

A Few Press Highlights about Noah Gundersen's Ledges

People Magazine: The 10 Best Albums Of 2014 (So far)
#3 Ledges - Noah Gundersen

"From the opening moments of Noah Gundersen's 'Ledges', with the a capella gospel strains of 'Poor Man's Son', you know you're in for something special...this record keeps you transfixed." ★★★★★ - People

"The solid, memorable songs are at the sweet end of the bittersweet spectrum, telling of troubles but seeking or offering help and hope." ★★★★★ - Mojo

*"He displays a wise-beyond-his-years talent for handcrafting the spare but substantial personal songs. Ledges may be a quiet album but it resonates with strong emotions in its own low-key way."* ★★★★★ - Blurt

"Gundersen's new 'Ledges', featuring this stirring acoustic track ['Isaiah'], establishes the 24-year-old as a precociously graceful and thoughtful songwriter."
- USA Today

*"...powerful debut... Ledges spans 11 tender tracks and weaves together tales of faith, temptation, redemption, death, and doubt, offering the kind of perspective usually found in much older tunesmiths."* - SPIN

"It's rare to see a young artist arrive so fully formed in his or her musical direction, but just in his mid-20s, singer/songwriter Noah Gundersen already seems to possess the soul of a wizened, grizzly troubadour." - Yahoo Music

*"Noah Gundersen's live performances are so intense and beautiful that they seem at times like a religious experience...'Ledges' seems effortless in its creation."* - Magnet

"It's the rare artist whose songwriting brilliance can both movingly inspire and maddeningly dishearten, all with the same record. But gifted tunesmith Noah Gundersen does just that..." - Examiner.com (National)

"Gundersen puts his own unique stamp on the singer-songwriter genre and if you're a fan of Ray Lamontagne and Ryan Adams this one has your name written all over it."
- WXPN's The Key

"With 'Ledges', his full-length solo debut, Gundersen's star has its best chance yet to shine, given his pensive, purposeful musings and a sound that's carefully considered."
- Elmore Magazine

"...the Seattle songwriter exhumes broken, penitent ballads that suddenly burst with a shock of power and catharsis." – Austin Chronicle

"Noah Gundersen isn't even 25 years old yet, but the weight of the material on his full-length debut, 'Ledges', makes it easy to mistake him for a musician twice his age."
- The Isthmus

"...Noah's making his best music yet." - Stereo Subversion

"'Ledges' finds Noah Gundersen showcasing newfound wisdom and depth, and for that, it sweeps us off our feet." – The Wild Honey Pie