NEW ALBUM WHAT THE FLOOD LEAVES BEHIND
RECEIVES WIDE CRITICAL ACCLAIM

“What the Flood Leaves Behind’ quietly invites us in, takes us to the altar of the heart, and lifts us up, searches our hearts, fills our souls, and lovingly caresses us as we walk emotionally renewed in the the fresh light of day.” – No Depression

Nashville, TN – Acclaimed singer/songwriter and multi-instrumentalist Amy Helm was a featured performer and interview subject on CBS This Morning: Saturday on July 3rd. The show aired three performances of songs from her latest release What the Flood Leaves Behind. Watch her conversation with Anthony Mason HERE and her performance of “Breathing,” “Sweet Mama” and “Are We Running Out Of Love.” Listen to What the Flood Leaves Behind HERE.

What the Flood Leaves Behind, Helm’s third solo album, has garnered wide critical acclaim following its June 18th release. Accolades include:

“...it’s ultimately clear that Helm has simply graduated to another level with this release” – Relix

“It’s a living, breathing LP, shaped by rich acoustic chords, pulsing horns, immersive organ, and Helm’s elastic voice.” – Rolling Stone Country

“What the Flood Leaves Behind is free of artifice; its rootsy, warm sound buoys this intimate homecoming by presenting the full scope of Helm’s prodigious gifts as a singer, songwriter, interpreter, collaborator, and artist, making it a timeless Americana masterpiece.” – AllMusic

“...a glorious, genre-blending 10-song collection...” – PopMatters

Born into music as the daughter of The Band’s legendary drummer/singer Levon Helm and singer-songwriter Libby Titus, Helm was raised between Woodstock, NY, NYC and Los Angeles. She is a founding member of the roots/folk group Ollabelle and a longtime member of The Midnight Ramble Band. Catch Amy Helm on tour throughout July 2021.
