

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

SEPTEMBER 2021

REVERED PORTLAND BAND TK & THE HOLY KNOW-NOTHINGS
RELEASE VIDEO FOR "BOTTOM OF THE BOTTLE" OFF UPCOMING ALBUM THE INCREDIBLE HEAT MACHINE OUT OCTOBER 15

WATCH THE WHIMSICAL & MYSTIFYING VIDEO HERE

"...anyone who had the pleasure of listening to [TK & The Holy Know-Nothings] was bowled over with the sharpness of Taylor Kingman's songwriting backed by a gritty, West Coast alt-country soundtrack." – Glide Magazine

Nashville, TN – Hailing from Portland, OR, TK & The Holy Know-Nothings released the kaleidoscopic clip for "Bottom of the Bottle", the second track out from the band's much anticipated sophomore album The Incredible Heat Machine out October 15 (Mama Bird Recording Co.). The half-animated, almost Lynchian visual has all the characteristics of a surrealist treasure including a trio of witches, a mysterious wizard, a pervasive barfly and a miniature Claymation version of frontman Taylor Kingman designed by renowned L.A. artist Julian Small-Calvillo. Watch the video HERE, and pre-order The Incredible Heat Machine HERE.

A hangover lament, "Bottom of the Bottle" is a rattling track that spotlights Kingman's playful lyricism, textured voice and unconventional song structures. The song, described by Kingman as a "coming-of-alcoholism story set to the beat of a runaway chuck wagon captained by a demonic Bob Wills while it spirals down the drain" was added to Spotify's "Emerging Americana" playlist last week.

"The music video for 'Bottom of the Bottle' is the blood, sweat and tears of Julian Small-Calvillo, a wildly talented cartoonist, animator and puppeteer based in LA," said Kingman. "He made this thing in less than two months, and that will forever blow my mind. The guy's a madman, but a madman you'd take home to meet your mama."

Ahead of The Incredible Heat Machine's October release, the band put out groove-heavy first single "Serenity Prayer" and its accompanying video that recreates the ambiance of a dive bar. Listen and watch HERE. The forthcoming record follows up the band's 2019 debut Arguably OK and 2020's B-sides EP Pickled Heat, which collectively introduced listeners to their distinct brand of unbound rock & roll infused with the strange, wide-open, outsider nature of Western country. This time around, they've upped their self-described "psychedelic doom boogie" with an LP that perfectly encapsulates the raucous yet languid feeling of a late night at your neighborhood watering hole. Like their last record, The Incredible Heat Machine was recorded live, with no overdubs, on stage at the OK Theatre in the quiet Eastern Oregon cowboy town of Enterprise.

TK & The Holy Know-Nothings amassed a devoted following as they performed sold-out shows throughout their home region and across the US. The band are once again taking their show on the road, supporting Deer Tick and Cedric Burnside on select dates, making their debut at Nashville's famed Americana Fest, playing a number of shows with Extra Gold and opening for JJ Grey & Mofro on their first West Coast tour in four years. A full list of dates follows.

For press information about TK & The Holy Know-Nothings, please contact Karen Wiessen karen@alleyesmedia.com or Bobby Crane bobby@alleyesmedia.com at All Eyes Media (615) 227-2770

TK & The Holy Know-Nothings 2021 Tour Dates

- September 15 – Chicago, IL – Schuba's
- September 16 – Louisville, KY – The Flamingo Lounge
- September 17 – Indianapolis, IN – Hi-Fi Annex*
- September 18 – Kalamazoo, MI – Bells Eccentric Cafe
- September 19 – Buffalo, NY – Borderland Music Festival
- September 21 – Knoxville, TN – Barley's Tap Room
- September 22-24 – Nashville, TN – AmericanaFest
- September 24 – Failea, WV – Healing Appalachia Benefit with Tyler Childers and Arlo McKinley
- September 25 – Cincinnati, OH – Summer Music Series
- September 28 – Columbia, MO – Rose Music Hall with John R. Miller
- September 29 – Des Moines, IA – xBK =
- September 30 – Kansas City, MO – The Record Bar =
- October 1 – Denver, CO – Lost Lake Lounge =

- November 3 – Scottsdale, AZ – Scottsdale Center for the Performing Arts**
- November 4 – Las Vegas, NV – Brooklyn Bowl Las Vegas**
- November 5 – San Diego, CA – The Observatory North Park**
- November 6 – Berkeley, CA – UC Theatre Taub Family Music Hall**
- November 7 – Sacramento, CA – Ace of Spades**
- November 9 – Crystal Bay, NV – Crystal Bay Club Casino Crown Room**
- November 11 – Portland, OR – Crystal Ballroom**
- November 12 – Seattle, WA – The Moore Theatre**
- November 13 – Missoula, MT – The Wilma**
- November 14 – Bozeman, MT – Elm**
- November 19 – Bend, OR – Commons Concert Series

* Supporting Deer Tick with Cedric Burnside

** Supporting JJ Grey & Mofro

= With Extra Gold