Silverada—Texas Honky Tonk for the New Millennium

This Texas-based band used to be called Mike and the Moonpies until they became Silverada earlier this year. While their name changed, their sound didn't. They've been playing smokin'-hot honky tonk for more than a decade.

Their discography is deep and full of good country music. Check out "Paycheck to Paycheck" from their 2021 album One to Grow On for an example of their sound.
